New York Society for Women in Philosophy
Panel on Reproductive Rights

NYSWIP presents a discussion of women’s reproductive rights...
Given the current political climate, we believe this is an important time for feminist philosophers to direct a critical eye at the issue of women’s reproductive rights. Please join us as Rebecca Kukla (Professor of Philosophy and Senior Research Scholar, Kennedy Institute of Ethics, Georgetown University) and Julie Zilberberg (Independent Scholar, CUNY Graduate Center PhD) address this issue in light of our current political climate.

For more information visit: nyswip.tumblr.com
Or email us: Amy.Baehr@hofstra.edu

What: Panel on Women’s Reproductive Rights
When: December 7, 2012, 4:30-6:30pm
Where: The Graduate Center, CUNY, Rm 9207
Who: Rebecca Kukla (Professor of Philosophy and Senior Research Scholar, Kennedy Institute of Ethics, Georgetown University)
"Mandatory Fetal Ultrasound and the Politics of Visual Representation"
Julie Zilberberg (Independent Scholar, CUNY Graduate Center PhD)
"Sex Selection and Restricting Abortion and Sex Determination"